THE NATIONAL GAME.

Stare vs. Eckfords-The Amateurs Again Vic

Yesterday recorded another victory for the ama teur Star Club. So many victories have lately been recorded for the Star Base Ball Club, collectively and ecorded for the star base ball, billiards, skating, glee inging, choir singing, and goodness knows what ise, that to decide the question whether this belongs to Brooklyn or that Brooklyn belongs to the Star Club, would be both difficult and delicate. There is this much that can be said, however, that Brooklyn is no loser by possessing such a field of young gentlemen, but if the relationship be the other way this compliment cannot be extended. But to the game. From the outset the Eckfords were beaten, both in fielding and batting, the result of all which was to prevent the infusion of any interest in the contest, so far as spectators were concerned. In justice to the Eckfords (and in connection with the former remarks truth demands the assertion that Williamsburg is no loser in possessing such a club), it must be stated that their catcher, Mr. Price, was so disabled in the opening of the second inning by a sharp foul-tipped ball striking him in the eye that he was compelled to withdraw, and a Mr. Denning substituted, James Snyder taking Price's post and Denning going to right field. This accident worked to the disadvantage of the Eckfords, who also lost one hand out because of the new comer not striking in his turn immediately after coming in. The game was a hard played one, but too uneven to merit detailed characterization. Below is the full score:—

**ECKFORD.**

**Players.** O. R.1B. T.PO.4.*

**Players.** O. R.1B. T.PO.4.*

On Wednesday the Socials of this city defeated the Enterprise of Brooklyn at the Elysian Fields, Hooken, with a score of 28 to 14.

On Tuesday last the Gramercy and Lexington clubs of this city played a game at Melrose, which ne latter won, with a score of 42 to 32.

Mr. Ferguson, of the Atlantic Club, not content with threatening to perform a summary and unproessional dental operation on the base ball represenlessional dental operation on the base ball represen-tative of the Herald, has avowed his determination to demolish the representative of the Tribune, and all because the Herald dared to tell the truth re-specting Mr. Ferguson and his actions in the Atlan-tic-Forest City game. The remarks which aroused the ire of Mr. Ferguson are the following:—

Ferguson, the captain of the Atlanties, was formerly a niet, hard-working member of the inne; but since he has sen crowned with a "little brief authority" he lords it over is men in an insulingly demonstrative and dominering ay that cannot fall to wound the feelings of the nine, make lem sulky and indifferent and act against the interests and occess of the club.

He may mean well enough in talking to his men as he often does, but his manner is certainly not calculated to win the respect of his nine or the admiration of the spectators. His reputation as a temperate and gentlemanty ball player has heretofore been very high, but his intemperate actions and demonstrations since the Forest City game can only result in sullying materially his former-credit. In justice to Mr. Piccot, and for the information of Mr. Perguson, it may be stated that the former gentleman is not the author of the articles which have aroused the pugnacious proclivities of the captain of the Atlantic nine.

The Red Stocking Club, of Cincinnati, beat the Har-vard Club, of Boston, yesterday, the score being Red Stockings 46, Harvards 15.

The Forest City Club, of Rockford, Ill., defeated the Pastine Club, of Baitimore, yesterday afternoon, the score standing 21 to 11. The ground was in bad con-dition, owing to the recent raims, and the playing was only ordinary throughout the game.
